

Please note, students must take 12 Credit Hours of Advanced Practice Methods courses with at least one course from the micro-level group and one course from the macro-level group. Please plan carefully as not all methods courses are offered each semester.

Engaging with Evidence (6 Credit Hours required)

Evaluation Project: In the advance practice year, all MSW students will take an engaging in evidence course (SWK 7401 and SWK 7402) in tandem with field. SWK 7401 and SWK 7402 are a two-semester sequenced class, where students stay with the same instructor, meeting at the same day/time of the week for both semesters. These courses focus on practice and program evaluation. The first semester teaches you how to evaluate client or programmatic outcomes and finishes with students developing a proposal for conducting an evaluation as part of their field education requirement. During the second semester, students will implement their proposed projects and submit a final report on the evaluation outcomes at the end of the second semester. Students choose to focus on either practice evaluation (using single-case designs to evaluate treatment outcomes with individuals, couples, families, or small groups) or program evaluation (group designs that evaluate the outcomes of programs).
